

Pacific Motorway (M1): Eight Mile Plains to Daisy Hill upgrade

V1 Veloway

Factsheet

Artist's impression: Veloway access at Underwood Road.

Overview

The Veloway (V1) is a 20 kilometre, dedicated cycleway that provides a safe and efficient route for bike riders between Lower River Terrace, South Brisbane, and Underwood.

The V1 is being extended from Eight Mile Plains to Slacks Creek as part of the M1: Eight Mile Plains to Daisy Hill (EMP2DH) upgrade.

Master planning for a complete cycle link and to close network gaps between Brisbane and the New South Wales border, is underway.

The V1 extension will open to riders in stages; the first of which was opened in September 2021, between Eight Mile Plains and Maureen Street, Underwood. Further stages will open as works are completed.

V1 access locations – EMP2DH upgrade

Numerous V1 access points that connect existing riding thoroughfares, local recreational facilities, and business/retail outlets will be provided, as follows:

- Logan Road, Eight Mile Plains (near the Gateway Motorway off-ramp)
- Underwood Road (near Eight Mile Plains State School)
- Maureen Street, Underwood (Camelot Park)
- Sports Drive, Underwood
- Springwood Road, Underwood (nearest the M1 bridges)
- Pacific Highway service road, Slacks Creek (Moss Street).

V1 key features – EMP2DH upgrade

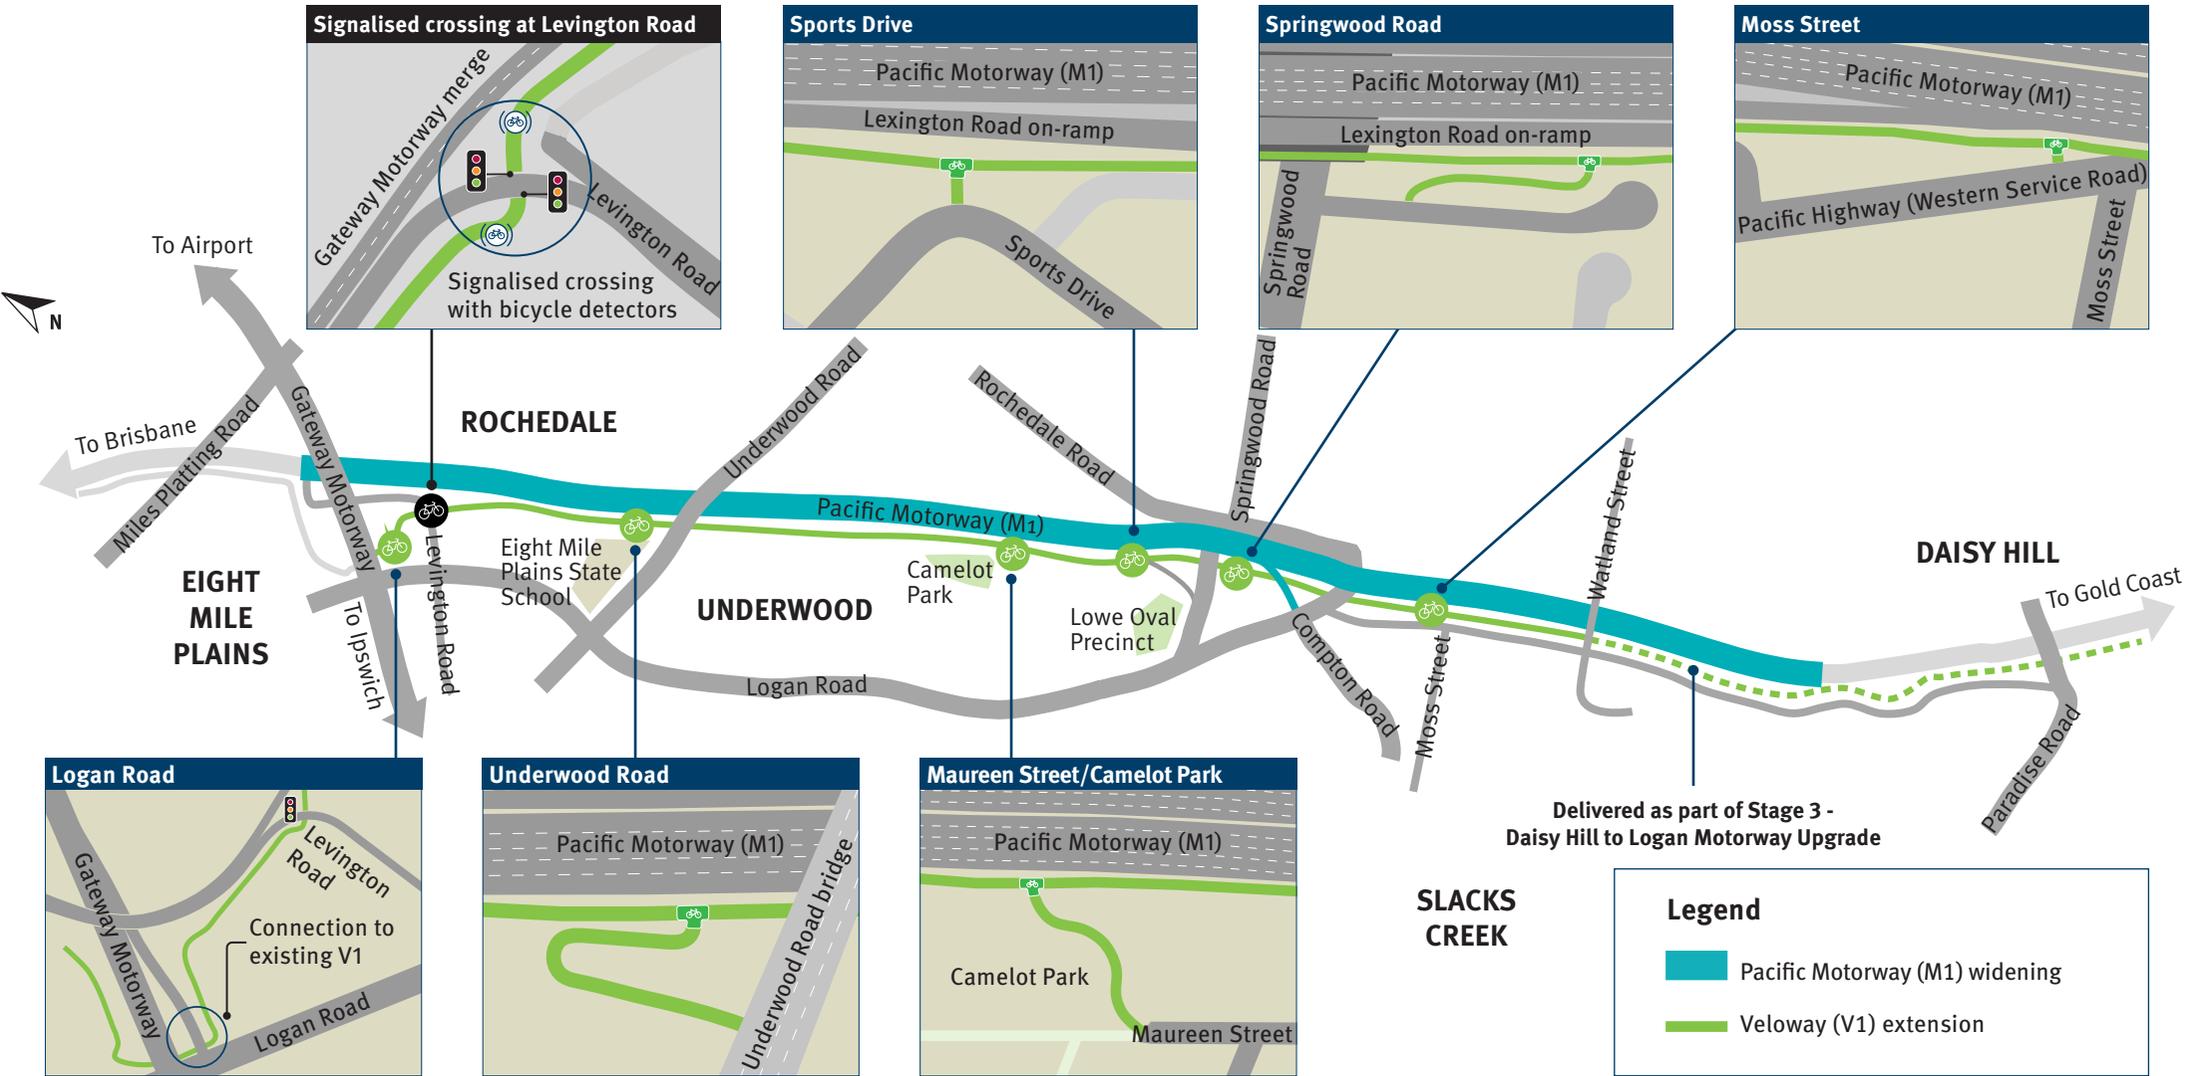

-  3-metre-wide cycle paths with 0.5 metre shoulders
-  Night lighting (dedicated and spill lighting)
-  Signalised road crossings
-  Bridge over the Lexington Road M1 on-ramp
-  Bike underpass at Logan Road (Exit 20) off-ramp
-  Advanced bicycle detection technology at the Levington Road crossing

Benefits

-  On average, every one dollar invested in cycling infrastructure returns almost five dollars to Queensland in health benefits, reduced traffic congestion and other benefits.
-  A safe, direct and connected cycling route, making it more convenient and enjoyable for people to ride to work, school, or the shops, or for fun and recreation.
-  A better integrated, multi modal transport network, contributing to the vitality of Queensland's cities and towns.
-  Part of the long-term vision of a continuous cycle route from Brisbane City to the New South Wales border.
